PROCEEDINGS

THE COURT: Please be seated. Okay. In re: Delphi Corporation.

MS. MARAFIOTI: Good morning, Your Honor. Kayalyn

Marafioti on behalf of DPH Holdings, Corp., which is the reorganized company and successor to Delphi Corporation and all but two of its affiliated debtors.

There are only a couple of items on the calendar today, and the second of them is now moot. The motion of Robert Backy (ph.) to enforce payment of his claim was withdrawn yesterday. I think the appropriate pleadings were filed. And so that matter is, effectively, settled.

And that leaves us with the debtors' motion under Bankruptcy Rule -- well, Federal Rule 4(m) and its companion bankruptcy rule to further extend the time to file service of process in connection with a number of adversary proceedings that were filed under seal a couple of years ago.

Your Honor, since we last made a motion seeking an extension of time, quite a considerable amount of progress has been made. In March, when we initially sought time that would relate to thirty days past the consummation date, there were some 752 complaints that might be brought. And you may recall that under the modified plan, the debtors were required to submit an exhibit naming, by adversary proceeding number, the complaints that could be brought post-consummation. And that number is now down to 177. So the pool of potential claims has been reduced to less than one quarter of its original size.

But the reason we're here seeking a further extension is that in the intense period that led up to the closing, it simply wasn't possible for the debtors to winnow that number down any further. And at the moment, under the master disposition agreement, these claims inure solely to the benefit of DPH Holdings, Corp. They did not move to the buyers. So they're staying with the reorganized company.

And there is only one employee at DPH Holdings Corp.

He has a lot of things to do right now in trying to effectuate all the transactions that were contemplated by the plan, and certainly this issue is now very much at the center of his attention, but he does need a bit more time.

Also, we understand that a different law firm will be taking over those claims, if and to the extent that they are brought, and so they need a bit of time to get up to speed as well.

We think that those reasons form the basis for the Court's extension of time, here. There has been no objection filed. We did serve the motion in the usual fashion, and no objections were lodged. So we would simply ask that the order be entered as submitted.

THE COURT: Okay, and thirty days hasn't run since the consummation of the plan, right?

               THE COURT: All right, so you're within the deadline.
 5
               MS. MARAFIOTI: Right.
 6
               THE COURT: I'll enter the order --

               MS. MARAFIOTI: Okay, very good. Thank you, Your Honor.

               THE COURT: -- for the reasons stated in the motion.
10
11
      As with the last ones, this is without prejudice to the rights 12
      of these potential defendants to argue other defenses, other than the running of the limitations period. And I think that 13
      goes without saying. So this is just an extension of the time 14
      to actually serve.
15
               MS. MARAFIOTI: That's right, Your Honor.
16
               THE COURT: So do you have a disc for me?
17
               MS. MARAFIOTI: I believe we do. If I may approach 18
      the bench, Your Honor.

               THE COURT: Sure. Obviously, the debtors' decision to 2.1
      proceed this way is borne out by the fact that the vast majority of these cases have already been, effectively, booted 22
      out. And as the motion states, the potential plaintiff, here, 23
      certainly should have a little more time to analyze whether it 24
      makes sense to bring the remaining lawsuits or only some of
